DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 and 3-5 are pending and are under consideration.
2. Applicants' remark filed on 2/27/06 has been acknowledged.
3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C.112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1 and 3-5 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicants' argument filed 2/27/06 has been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that the nature of the method does not need to be specified and the claims are broad enough to encompass treatment as well as prevention.

While all of the details need not be recited, the claims must include enough information to clearly and accurately describe the invention. Currently, the claim 1 is not drafted to recite treatment as well as prevention.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office Action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1644

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1 and 3-5 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over U.S. Pat. No. 5,066,491(of record) in view of U.S. Pat. No.5,080,895 (of record) for the reasons set forth in the office action mailed 9/20/05.

Applicants' argument filed 2/27/06 has been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that there is no motivation to combine the references because the starting materials are different.

Given that the claimed invention broadly encompasses any method and any avian antibodies reactive to Clostridium perfringens, the claims are not drafted to specify any further limitation including source of antibody other than avian antibodies.

Contrary to applicant's arguments, the whey fraction described by the '491 patent encompasses immunologically active immunoglobulins plus other pathogen specific antibodies (abstract).

Furthermore, the '491 patent teaches the use of invention on a commercial scale (col. 10, lines 62-68). In addition, the concentration of the immunoglobulins is about 7% from the protein fraction (abstract, Fig 5, 6). In addition, as described in the '491 patent, col. 3, lines 12-18, the production of antibodies from the known methods use serum, colostrum or milk from a cow cannot be performed readily and conveniently in Japan or other countries having limited land, and the product is expensive. Therefore, the combination of teachings to yield mass production of inexpensive antibodies remains obvious.

Art Unit: 1644

From the teachings of references, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in art would have had a reasonable expectation of success in producing the claimed invention. Therefore, the invention as a whole was prima facie obvious to one of the ordinary in the art at the time of invention was made, as evidenced by the references, especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

7. No claims are allowable.

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
